7 SIGNS You May Need a New Roof

Don't wait for a major leak to find out it's time for a replacement. Watch for these warning signs.

Missing or Curling Shingles

Gaps or edges lifting can leave your roof vulnerable to leaks.

Shingle Granules in Gutters

Bald spots on shingles mean they're losing their protective layer.

Sagging Roofline

This can signal structural issues that need immediate attention.

Dark Streaks or Stains

Could be algae, water damage, or aging shingles.

Frequent Repairs

If you need repairs more than once a year, replacement may save money.

Roof Age

Asphalt roofs last 20-25 years. If older, start planning.
